This article gives quotations from the early church fathers (indexed to the 38 volume set published recently by both Eerdmans and Hendrickson. All volumes are in the public domain, however) showing belief in Christ's deity. Some are allusions or illustrations, but others are quite clear. Many of these were written between 50 and 200 years BEFORE the Council of Nicaea. Ignatius wrote ca. 105 A.D., only about ten years after the death of the Apostle John. The quotations are listed in approximate chronological development.

Peabody, Massachusetts: Hendrickson, 2012, p. 651-657. This article gives quotations from the early church fathers (indexed to the 38 volume set published recently by both Eerdmans and Hendrickson. All volumes are in the public domain, however) showing belief in the Trinity. Some are allusions or illustrations, but others are quite clear. Many of these were written between 50 and 200 years BEFORE the Council of Nicaea. The quotations are listed in approximate chronological development.
